HENRY F. DONOVAN, Editor and Publisher

Entered as Second Class Matter October 11, 1889, at the Post Office at Chicago, Ill., under Act of March 3, 1879.

ESTABLISHED OCTOBER 5, 1889

Incorporated Under the Laws of Illinois.

Founded by HENRY F. DONOVAN.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1918.

MAKE YOUR DOLLARS WORK AND FIGHT.

The government's work or fight order is helping to build ships and make war material. But to win the war we will have to make dollars both work and fight. One of the most effective ways of doing this is buying War Savings Stamps.

We must remember that the burden of winning the war rests on our shoulders just as much as it does on our boys in the trenches. With the successes of Pershing's men on the western front fresh in mind it is inconceivable that the people back home should fail to support them.

Let each man and woman apply the conservation principle to the idle dollars. Make them work or fight.
Put Illinois over the top in its obligation to purchase $125,000,000 worth of W. S. S. by January 1.

We must lend the government that purchasing power which it must have for the huge task of winning the war.

War is a current undertaking and must be financed with current savings. Therefore every patriot will buy War Savings Stamps to the limit.

CONVERSION OF LIBERTY BONDS

By W. G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury.

The privilege of conversion which arose in consequence of the issue of 4½ per cent bonds of the Third Liberty Loan will expire on November 9 and, under existing law cannot be extended or renewed. Holders of these 4 per cent bonds lose nothing by exercising the privilege of conversion and gain ½ per cent interest per annum. Holders of 4 per cent bonds should not wait until the last moment to exercise the privilege of conversion, but proceed to do so promptly. Delay will result in overburdening the banking institutions of the country and the Treasury Department by making it necessary to handle all conversions at the last moment, and may result in the loss of the privilege of conversion altogether.

Holders of coupon bonds are strongly advised to request issue of registered bonds to protect themselves against the risk of loss, theft and destruction of their bonds.

Official Department Circular No.
114, with forms of application, has been distributed to Federal Reserve banks and banks and trust companies throughout the United States. These institutions are asked, as a matter of patriotic service, to assist bond holders in exchanging 4 per cent bonds for 4½ per cent bonds and in registering their bonds.

Judge John R. Taverly is daily adding to his popularity in Chicago by his splendid record on the Municipal Court bench.

Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson is making a fine record and many friends by his able and efficient manner in which he conducts his great office.

SAMUEL P. MESSINGER,
Head of the Great Restaurant House of Messinger & Company.

OBITUARY

Rivers McNeill.

Rivers McNeill, United States collector of customs for the Chicago district, died at his home in Evanston, after an illness of several months, from a complication of ailments. He had undergone a number of operations.

He was appointed collector in July, 1914, succeeding John C. Ames. He was well known in national politics.
He was an alternate delegate to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore in 1912. He was a member of the University, Union League, Iroquois and Evanston Country clubs.

He was born at Lafayette, Kentucky, Nov. 12, 1858. He married Nov. 18, 1897, Ella R. De Hart of Carthage, Ill., who survives him. She was his second wife, his first one being Miss Stella Corby of Chicago, whom he married in February, 1885.

Mr. McNeill came to Chicago forty years ago and settled on the west side. He acquired large realty holdings, among them the McNeill building at Jackson boulevard and Market street. Until he accepted the post of collector of customs in 1914 he was head of the firm of McNeill Brothers, realty brokers.

Once he was offered the congressional nomination by the Democratic party, but he declined because he did not want to leave the city. In 1892 President Cleveland sought to appoint him collector of customs here, but he declined this offer because it would have entailed his virtual retirement from business life.

He was always an ardent supporter of President Wilson, and before the 1912 convention he visited many states of the middle west and east, speaking in his behalf.

Besides the widow, three children survive, Lieut. Malcolm McNeill of the Great Lakes Naval Training station, Miss Dorothy McNeill and Mrs.
Robert M. Adams of St. Paul.

C. B. Willey, president of the big C. L. Willey Company, is one of the solid men of Chicago. He is patriotic, progressive and public spirited.

Many Republicans talk of Isaac N.
Powell as the next nominee of that party for mayor.

He served a term as city treasurer with distinction and has held other prominent offices, and in every public position he has come out more popular with the people than when he went into office.

Chester A. Phillips & Co., the well-known sales engineers, in the Old Colony Building, have a national reputation for efficiency and square dealing and no concern in the country furnishes better locomotives, steam shovels, excavators, locomotive cranes, railway cars, steel rails, railroad power, mining, shipbuilders and contractors equipment.

JOHN J. ROONEY,
Democratic Candidate for Judge of the Municipal Court.

RE-ELECT BARASA

Judge Bernard P. Barasa has made a splendid record on the municipal court bench. He deserves the votes of all citizens, regardless of party.
He is just, able and fearless, and at the recent primary received more votes than any other Republican candidate.

IMPORTANT INFOR-MATION REGARDING REG-ISTRATION OF BONDS

Important information concerning the registration of Liberty Loan bonds, as given out by the bond department of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago contains the following quotation from a letter from the Treasury department:

"With reference to accepting subscriptions for bonds to be registered in the names of persons giving only initials rather than the full name, I have to say that it is the intent of the Department, not for its own sake, but for the sake of holders of registered bonds, to have them registered in such manner as to enable the said holders, or their legal representatives, to dispose of them in the simplest and readiest manner. Bonds issued to women under their initials, or under the initials of their husbands, are not readily transferable in case of the death of the holder.

"Though letters of administration would be issued in the legal name of the deceased, and the bonds would be inscribed in her name, under her initials, or those of her husband, as the case might be. The letters of administration and the bonds would not agree as to the name, and therefore the administrator of Mrs. Sarah A.
Smith, say, would have to prove that she and Mrs. Thomas W. Smith (or Mrs. S. Smith) were one and the same person. It is to avoid troubles of this character that the Department has insisted on receiving the legal name of persons subscribing for registered bonds.

"Of course, the Department cannot refuse to issue bonds under initials if the parties interested insist upon it, but it is requested that you, in all cases where it is possible, insist on receiving the full names of persons subscribing for registered bonds."

John Lasser, whose big establishment at 1007 to 1011 Alameda street turns out the famous Allmaris water, is the leading ginger ale, soda water, root beer and seltzer dealer in the city.

Recount of the ballots cast in the recent primary for Democratic candidates for the house in the twenty-first senatorial district gives Benjamin M.
Mitchell a place on the ticket. Mitchell defeated John Donnelly by 172 votes, making Mitchell and Michael F. Maher the Democratic candidates.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

HELPED KILL RASPUTIN

Col. Stanislas Lazavert, who came to America to report to President Wilson on present conditions in Russia, says he is one of a party of six that fired from the colonel's automobile the shots that killed the notorious monk, Rasputin. The machine was standing outside the residence of Grand Duke Dimitri Pavlovski. In the party were the colonel, Grand Duke Pavlovski, another grand duke whose name he would not mention, M. Tschotone, M. Furish-koch and Captain of the Guards Prince Yusoff.

The monk was killed because he was considered to be employed by German money to influence the czarina in bringing about peace between Russia and Germany, and it was from patriotic motives that he was removed.

Colonel Lazavert is a Pole, but held a commission in the medical service of the Russian army. After the killing of Rasputin, the flight of the colonel and his wife from Russia, was so hurried that they were obliged to leave their baby only four months old, with relatives in Russia. His wife is now seeing service as a nurse in France.

PREFERS WIFE TO THRONE

In answer to pleas that he desert his bride of humble birth, Crown Prince Charles of Roumania replied that thrones are so unstable nowadays that he preferred the certainty of having the wife he wanted to the chance of losing the succession.

The escape of the crown prince in going to Odessa and marrying Cecille Lambring, the daughter of a major in the Roumanian army, reopens the question of the Roumanian dynastic succession. When King Ferdinand heard of the marriage he ordered that the crown prince be given 75 days' solitary confinement for absconding himself without leave from his garrison.

The king sent an emissary to Bender, Bessarabia, where the young couple were spending their honeymoon, with instructions to try to undo the marriage knot, but to no avail. The bride refused to part with her wedding ring and the crown prince declined to leave her. The present case has a plangent feature in that it recalls that King Ferdinand in his youth had a love affair with Helene Vacaresco, his mother's lady of honor.

CROWDER A MISSOURI BOY

Five miles west of Trenton, Grundy county, Missouri, stands a village called Edinburg, which was once a flourishing town, but is now rapidly passing away. Here Enoch Herbert Crowder, now provost marshal general of the United States army, was born April 11, 1859. His birthplace was a log cabin similar to the two or three still standing in a more or less dilapidated condition just to the west of the village. His parents, John H. and Mary C. Crowder, were in humble circumstances at that time, but they were of strong and sturdy stock and they instilled into their son those qualities of manhood that have enabled him to rise to one of the most responsible positions in the army of the nation.

General Crowder's early education was received at an institution at Edinburgh called Grand River college, at that time the most prominent educational institution in north central Missouri. Completing the course at Grand River college, young Crowder entered the United States military academy at West Point in September, 1877, having been appointed to a cadetship in that institution by Henry M. Pollard, congressman from Missouri.

OUR MINISTER TO HONDURAS

Thomas Sambola Jones, appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the Republic of Honduras in July, 1918, was born at Jackson, La., October 5, 1859. He was educated at Centenary college, holding the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from that institution, and took his degree in law at Tulane university, New Orleans, La.

Two years after leaving college he became superintendent of public schools at Baton Rouge; entering journalism a little later, he was editor of the Louisiana State Journal, and also was the founder and editor of the Louisiana Educator. He served as secretary to Governor Foster of Louisiana, and as colonel on the staffs of various successive governors of the state.

In 1904 he was appointed the Southern commissioner for the St. Louis exposition, and from 1902 to 1912 was judge of the inferior criminal court of the city of Baton Rouge. From 1912 to 1915 he was commissioner at large for the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco, and since 1912 has been a member of the Louisiana general assembly.

ON FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD

Albert Strauss of New York, appointed by President Wilson to succeed Paul M. Warburg as a member of the federal reserve board, was at the time of his selection the representative of the treasury department on the war trade board.

Mr. Strauss, who is fifty-four years of age, has been a banker all his life and has been associated in recent years with various large enterprises.
Since 1901 he has been a member of the firm of J. & W. Seligman & Co. of New York, which he joined as an employee in 1882 after graduating at the College of the City of New York.
Among other connections, he has been a member of the executive committee of the Guaranty Trust company.

During the last year Mr. Strauss has served on the war trade board as the treasury spokesman, handling banking and foreign exchange problems.
His work in this connection was so satisfactory that his selection to succeed Mr. Warburg did not come as a surprise.

DON'T LET HUN PEACE TALK DISSUADE YOU FROM BUYING MORE LIBERTY BONDS.
IF EVER THERE WAS A TIME FOR BUYING LIBERTY BONDS, THAT TIME IS NOW.

Don't say "I can't afford it." Don't even think of such a thing.

What would you think if our brave boys over there would lay down their arms and say "We can't afford to fight"?
Answer that!

If you mortgaged everything you owned to make a perfectly safe investment, you would not be equaling a millionth
